Project Description
Project Plan Amendment PJT2025-0023
41 Maryland Avenue

The Momentum at Rockville Station at 41 Maryland Avenue is intended to be developed at the corner of Maryland Avenue at Middle Lane on the site of an existing small surface parking lot. Envisioned as a 12-story apartment building, with up to 147 dwelling units, of studios through three-bedrooms, with on-site resident amenities, the Momentum is proposed to be affordable at a range of income levels under federal and local housing financing programs. The site has direct walking access the two blocks to the Rockville Metro Redline Station as well as convenient access to multiple public parking garages and on-street parking. No on-site parking is proposed and a parking waiver will be sought as recommended in the Town Center Master Plan and as permitted by the Zoning Ordinance.

The proposed site is one block of a comprehensive planned development approved in 1994 (PDP1994-0001) of 5 blocks encompassing 255 Rockville Pike, the Regal Row retail center, the BLVD 44, BLVD Ansel, and this site. The site was approved in 1994 for a minimum of 117 dwelling units, a limited area of retail, with a height of 100 feet over the 448' elevation. As a planned development, a Project Plan is considered by the Mayor and Council to amend the original entitlements to increase the number of dwelling units from 117 to 147, waive parking, eliminate ground floor retail, modify the massing to increase the allowable height by 20 feet (which is significantly lower than the 200 feet of height allowed under current zoning), as well as amend the overall mix of dwelling units at BLVD 44 related to MPDUs, among other minor amendments. A Site Plan for the final building improvements to implement the approved Project Plan will thereafter be filed to be considered by the Planning Commission.

The intended development is consistent with the adopted 2025 Town Center Master Plan, including the specific recommendations for this site, which recommend increases in density and residents in Town Center to support the existing retail district, a parking waiver for zero onsite parking, and a goal for more affordable housing choices. The Project amendments are also consistent with recent zoning ordinance amendments for Town Center that eliminated parking and ground floor retail requirements, and increased allowable height to 200 feet with an additional 100 feet for affordable housing. This proposal is an innovative collaboration between an affordable housing developer/operator and the property owner to deliver more affordable housing choices to Rockville Town Center in a key location walkable for its residents to services, the Rockville Redline Metro Station, and other public transportation to make regional jobs and opportunities accessible.

Development Review in Rockville

What is development review?

Development review is a general term for the city's various procedures to review proposed developments and ensure they comply with the city's regulations. These include land uses, engineering, utilities, transportation, stormwater and sediment control, and tree preservation to achieve consistent design of the site and related public infrastructure. As outlined in the Rockville Zoning Ordinance, the city works with the surrounding property owners, businesses and the applicant during development review. During this process, the city staff reviews applications for compliance and surrounding neighborhoods and property owners review and comment on proposed plans.

Rockville's development review procedures are intended to help assure the health and welfare of citizens and achieve high-quality development that complies with the design regulations of the City Code and addresses the needs of the surrounding community. These procedures govern all development projects, except single-unit, detached residences.

How is development reviewed?

Rockville's development review process includes four phases.

Pre-application

During the pre-application phase, city staff meet with the developer to discuss the proposal; outline the project's size and potential impact on neighbors, green space, transportation, stormwater management, and other public infrastructure; learn about the zoning process; and ask questions. In most cases the developer will be required to notify the community of their plans and hold a public meeting for residents to comment on the project.

Application

During the application phase, the developer files the appropriate application materials and meets with city staff to discuss the proposal and any changes made as a result of the pre-application phase. In most cases the developer will be required to notify the community of their plans, hold a public meeting for residents to comment on the project and, in the case of very large projects, brief the Planning Commission and/or Mayor and Council. Also during this phase, city staff reviews the application package and coordinates with other government agencies and utilities that review the application.

Public Meeting

During the public meeting phase, the designated approving authority reviews the proposal and any changes made as a result of community feedback, and decides whether to approve or disapprove the project. The designated approving authority depends on the project's potential impact and could be the chief of zoning, Planning Commission or the Mayor and Council.

Decision

During the decision phase, city staff issues a decision letter based on the final action of the approving authority. Such action may approve the project as is, approve the project with specific conditions, or deny the project. The developer signs the letter acknowledging the decision and returns it with a final set of plans for inclusion in the public record.

Who reviews and approves development?

Rockville's Zoning Ordinance outlines three levels of development review based on the project's size and potential impact.

Each project is assigned points based on acreage, number of dwelling units, square footage of non-residential space, residential area impact and traffic impact.

Depending on the number of points earned a project will require one of the following levels of review:

Site Plan Level 1: Review by the chief of zoning.

Site Plan Level 2: Review by the Planning Commission at one meeting.

Project Plan: Review by the Planning Commission and Mayor and Council at three meetings: one for an initial briefing of both; one for review and recommendation by the Planning Commission; and one for review and action by the Mayor and Council.

Development Review at a Glance

Pre-Application Phase

1. The developer notifies the community about the plans, and holds a public meeting for comments.
2. The developer submits pre-application materials and fees.
3. City staff and the developer assess the project's potential impact.
4. City staff holds a pre-application meeting with the developer.

Application Phase

1. Application and fees submitted.
2. The developer notifies the community about the plans, if necessary.
3. The developer holds a public meeting for comments, if necessary.
4. City staff evaluates the application and issues a report.

5. City staff and the developer brief the Planning Commission and Mayor and Council if necessary.

Public Meeting Phase

1. The designated approving authority reviews the application and issues a decision.
 - a. Mayor and Council.
 - b. Planning Commission.
 - c. Board of Appeals.
 - d. Historic District Commission.
 - e. City staff, i.e., the chief of zoning.

Decision Phase

1. City staff issues a decision letter based on the final action of the approving authority.
2. The developer acknowledges the decision and files a final set of project plans if approved.
