RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that the HDC provide suggestions to the applicant for incorporation of the proposed addition into the final submittal.

BACKGROUND

The owner received a variance from the Board of Appeals to add an addition above the garage (VAR2025-001220) because the property did not meet the front and side setback requirements for the new construction.

HISTORIC SIGNIFICANCE

The 1926 Wilt/Barnsley House is locally significant for its association with a noted local teacher, Lucy Barnsley, commonly known as Miss Lucy. Miss Lucy lived in the house from 1945 to 1962. Lucy taught sixth grade at Rockville Elementary School, later named Park Street School. She specialized in teaching special needs male students and started the first summer session to help them. Miss Lucy organized Rockville residents and school children to plant Victory Gardens during WWII. Miss Lucy retired from teaching in 1951, after which she helped organize the Retired Teachers Association. Her efforts resulted in retired teachers being able to work as substitute teachers. Miss Lucy continued working with students as a substitute for the next six years. The Lucy V. Barnsley Elementary School, located just outside City of Rockville limits in Aspen Hill, was the first school in Montgomery County to be named for a woman.

The Wilt/Barnsley House is a strong example of a vernacular gable-front house type associated with Rockville's early 20th century small-town era. The house is located at corner of Lynch Street and Anderson Avenue in the West End Park subdivision. It is a two and one-half-story gable front, frame house with Craftsman stylistic elements, and covered with cedar shingles. The rectangular core of the house faces Lynch Street. A first story, flat roofed addition off the rear elevation, which was added in 1985, accommodates a first story extension over a basement level garage. The two-car garage is located under the addition and accessed from Anderson Avenue. A rear porch appears to have been incorporated into the 1985 rear addition. The rear addition's west elevation includes a recessed side entrance. A sun porch with a hipped roof is also on the west elevation (Anderson Avenue side). The sun porch features a wide frieze band with rectangular panels. The foundation of the building is molded concrete block for the historic core of the house, and brick faced concrete under the rear porch and 1985 addition. The property was locally designated as historic in 2007.

Rear (West) Elevation with Existing Garage Addition

DISCUSSION OF THE PROPOSED PROJECT

The house has an existing one-story rear addition which was constructed by a previous owner in 1985, prior to the 2007 designation of the property. The lot drops 8' in grade from the front (east) to the rear (west) of the property. As a result, the existing addition has a below grade brick two-car garage with a driveway that is accessed from Anderson Avenue. The first-story above the garage has a flat roof, and it houses a master bedroom suite. The applicant proposes to construct an 857 square-foot second-story rear addition directly above the existing one-story addition. The proposed addition will provide additional living space and will maintain the same overall architectural style and detailing as the existing historic house.

On the south elevation, the L-shape gable roof of the proposed new addition will be slightly lower in height, and it will intersect with the gable roof of the existing historic house. The first and second stories of the existing and proposed new addition will each have two pairs of multi-lite casement windows. A small four-lite window will be located in the gable peak.

The west elevation of the existing addition has a double-wide garage door and a six-over-six double-hung window on the north end. Three six-over-six double-hung windows span the width of the second story. The original house has two evenly spaced second story windows, and an attic window in the peak of the gable. The proposed new addition will have three evenly spaced nine-lite casement windows on the second-story. The first-story of the proposed addition will have a group of four multi-lite french doors, flanked by a nine-lite casement window on the north end, and a six-lite casement window on the south end. The doublewide garage door will be replaced by two singlewide doors, each with eight-lites along the top. Three brick columns will support a new deck with railings, above the garage doors.

The existing south elevation of the historic house has an enclosed porch. The applicant proposes to replace the existing porch with a new porch which may or may not be enclosed (to be determined). The plans depict an open porch with a hipped roof, square columns and handrails. The east facing elevation of the new addition will have a single six-over-one window on the second story.

ANALYSIS AND FINDINGS

The applicant proposes to construct a second-story addition on top of an existing first-story addition constructed in 1985. The construction of the addition will require the removal of second story windows. In accordance with the Secretary of Interiors Standards for Rehabilitation Standard #9, “New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction will not destroy historic materials, features, and spatial relationships that characterize the property. The new work will be differentiated from the old and will be compatible with the historic materials, features, size, scale and proportion, and massing to protect the integrity of the property and its environment.”

While the existing addition was designated in 2007, it is not a character defining historic feature of the house. The proposed addition is located at the rear of the property as required, and roofline is lower than the roofline of the original house, however due to the corner location of the property, the existing and proposed addition will be very visible from the right-of-way. The construction of the addition will not require the removal of historic materials which characterize the property; therefore, it will not affect the integrity of the house. The new lap siding and windows used for the construction of the addition will distinguish the new from the old. The proposed addition will be compatible with the materials and details of the existing house, and the footprint of the house will not change, therefore maintaining a reduced impact on the historic site.

Rockville Technical Guide for Alterations #4: New Additions recommends the following practices:

1. Make retention of the building’s historic character and materials the focus of the addition’s design. Use existing roofline, trim lines, materials and massing for guidance in the new design.
2. Avoid the loss of historic materials and features such as trees, outbuildings and landscape walls.
3. Whenever possible, place addition on rear. Build back on the lot rather than up.
4. Design the addition so it does not overwhelm the historic building, or adjacent neighbors, in scale or massing.
5. The design of doors, windows, shutters, trim and exterior siding should all be compatible with the historic structure, although modern materials may be considered by the HDC.

Placing the addition on the flat roof garage, as opposed to behind it, retains the spatial relationships that characterize the property. Based on the analysis above, the proposal meets all the requirements.

RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that the HDC provide suggestions to the applicant for incorporation of the proposed addition into the final submittal.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

The posting of the notification sign on the property occurred two weeks prior to the meeting, and the notices were sent out two weeks prior to the meeting. Peerless Rockville and the leadership of the West End Citizens Association were informed directly about this review in advance of the meeting.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR'S STANDARDS FOR REHABILITATION

1. A property will be used as it was historically or be given a new use that requires minimal change to its distinctive materials, features, spaces, and spatial relationships.
2. The historic character of a property will be retained and preserved. The removal of distinctive materials or alteration of features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterize a property will be avoided.
3. Each property will be recognized as a physical record of its time, place, and use. Changes that create a false sense of historical development, such as adding conjectural features or elements from other historic properties, will not be undertaken.
4. Changes to a property that have acquired historic significance in their own right will be retained and preserved.
5. Distinctive materials, features, finishes, and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize a property will be preserved.
6. Deteriorated historic features will be repaired rather than replaced. Where the severity of deterioration requires replacement of a distinctive feature, the new feature will match the old in design, color, texture, and, where possible, materials. Replacement of missing features will be substantiated by documentary and physical evidence.
7. Chemical or physical treatments, if appropriate, will be undertaken using the gentlest means possible. Treatments that cause damage to historic materials will not be used.
8. Archeological resources will be protected and preserved in place. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures will be undertaken.
9. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction will not destroy historic materials, features, and spatial relationships that characterize the property. The new work will be differentiated from the old and will be compatible with the historic materials, features, size, scale and proportion, and massing to protect the integrity of the property and its environment.
10. New additions and adjacent or related new construction will be undertaken in such a manner that, if removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.
